Library Fines Cost Students $6,193

Some 3,861 students paid $6,193.19 to Morris Library in overdue books fines in 1961-62, officials reported yesterday.

One student outdid himself with a bill of $95 for 19 books he kept overdue for several weeks.

Library authorities feel a small percentage of the same students represent a large proportion of total fines.

These students, who consistently have overdue books, seem to be careless in other areas, although they may be reasonably able students.

Ralph McCoy, Library Director, calls fines "a nuisance...the most unpleasant part of our job."

"If there were any other way of getting books back," McCoy said, "we would use it."

Punishment is not the intent of the fines, according to McCoy. That function belongs to another office.

"Nor," he said, "is this a means of buying books. We are not in business to sell books to students. We'd much rather have books than the money."

"The purpose of the fines is purely to get books back," he said.

Although thousands of dollars might come to Morris Library in fines, the library would never realize a penny of it. All money collected goes back into the general revenue of the State of Illinois.

More Room In Plan 'A' This Winter

Claude E. Coleman, director of Plan "A," announced that a few places in Plan "A" 352 and 452 are still open for winter quarter.

The 352 course studies India, the 452 course studies 20th century problems. Both give 2 hours credit.

Coleman prefers that students participating in Plan "A" have a 4.25 grade average, but this is not always required.

Anyone interested in enrolling in the junior and senior levels of Plan "A" may call 3-2883 for an appointment with Dr. Coleman.

Bach 'Magnificat' Offered Sunday

The "Magnificat in D," by Johann Sebastian Bach, for soloists, chorus and orchestra, and the "Sinfonia con tromba," for solo trumpet and strings by Giuseppe Torelli, will be presented by the Unitarian Fellowship at 8 p.m., Sunday in the Unitarian Meeting House, 701 Elm st.

Soloists for the program will be Carol Lambert, soprano; Ruth Adele Batts, soprano; Lauraada Buntun, contralto; John Latta, tenor; William Taylor, bass; Phillip Olsson, trumpet; and Robert Mueller, organ continuo.

The program will be directed by Wesley K. Morgan.

SIU moved from sixth to second place in the United Press International small-college poll with the 73-66 victory over St. Bonaventure. Westminster College (Pa.) is in first place.

AAU Suspends 7 SIU Trackmen

Seven SIU trackmen have been suspended from further Amateur Athletic Union (AAU) competition because they competed in the Knoxville (Tenn.) track meet Oct. 28.

The meet was not sanctioned by the AAU which is the governing body of amateur athletics. Instead the newly formed United States Track and Field Federation (USTFF) authorized the meet. The AAU, however, does not recognize the federation.

The track federation was formed by the United States Track Coaches Association which is a part of the Na-

Christmas Convocation:

Festive Touch Given Christmas On Campus

Mother Nature added an authentic touch to SIU's Christmas celebration--a thin blanket of soft, white snow.

Once the sun was out yesterday, the snow didn't last long. But it added a festive touch to the traditional Christmas convocation programs which drew standing-room-only crowds to Shryock Auditorium at 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The reading of the Christmas Story from St. Luke by President Delyte W. Morris highlighted the program.

The Oratorio Chorus and the University Choir, under the direction of Robert Kingbury, sang excerpts from Handel's "Messiah."

Featured soloists were Denise Josten, soprano; Deanna Stevenson, mezzo-soprano; Robert Knight, tenor; and James McHaney, baritone.

The University Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Warren Van Bronkhorst, performed "Fantasia on Green-sleeves" by Vaughn-Williams. It also played "Joy to the World," "The First Noel" and "O Come All Ye Faithful" while the audience sang the traditional Christmas songs.

The AFROTC Singing Squadron, under the direction of Donald Canedy, sang "Silver Bells."

Wesley K. Morgan was organ accompanist.

Housing Office Says Move Not Being Considered Now

Mrs. Anita Kuo, supervisor of housing, said yesterday it has not been determined whether forthcoming Housing Policy and Standards will eventually lead to barring undergraduates from living in trailers.

The question of whether undergraduates would be forbidden to live in trailers by a new housing code now being formulated and discussed by the Housing Office has arisen among some students on campus. The SIU Board of Trustees has directed the Housing Office to begin work on a new set of standards for supervised housing.

Mrs. Kuo said the set of standards being prepared by the householders-students committee is to apply only to supervised housing.

She said the question of whether undergraduates should be allowed to live in unsupervised housing is not being considered at this time. It might, however, be considered some time in the future.

The Board of Trustees last month approved a resolution regarding student housing which said in part:

"It is hoped that the University will in the very near future be able to require that its students reside only in public accommodations which adhere to standards regarding safety, study conditions, health and sanitation, and supervision."

Students are now governed by a rule which has been in effect for several years regarding unsupervised housing, including trailers. It states that no single undergraduate student under the age of 21 may live in unsupervised housing without special permission from the Housing Office.

Thompson Point's Incoming Calls Avoid Switchboard

It is now possible for persons to telephone all Thompson Point residents by dialing directly from outside lines and without going through the University Switchboard.

The change went into effect at 8 a.m. today, according to officials from SIU Auxiliary and Service Enterprises.

There will be no change in outgoing calls. Formerly it was necessary for both incoming and outgoing calls to go through the University Switchboard.

SIGNS OF THE TIME - Snow shovels made their first appearance of the season on campus yesterday. Workers such as this man who cleared the walk near Shryock Auditorium better keep them handy. The weatherman has promised more of the same the rest of this week.

Speech Department Voices
Campus Holiday Greetings

The Department of Speech will become the Christmas voice of many campus organizations.

Many of the students, majoring in speech, have been requested for readings and small Christmas programs because of the Christmas season.

The Department of Speech Christmas program will be an invitational party on Dec. 9. The party will feature readings and folk singing.

Thompson Point is giving an hour-long Christmas program at 9 p.m. Dec. 11 which will be highlighted by readings given by the Department of Speech.

On Dec. 14 the Department is sending readers to a Christmas program given by the Business and Professional Women's Club in Sparta.

Readers will also entertain at the Faculty Christmas Party. They have become a tradition at the Faculty Christmas Party.

In January, the Department of Speech is sponsoring a High School Speech Festival which is open to all high schools in the area. The program will cover two weekends and includes many debates and individual speaking events.

Honor Guard Serenade

The combined Honor Guard of the AFROTC will serenade several of the women's residence halls with Christmas music tonight between 8 and 10.

Activities:

Student Groups Will Take Christmas In Song To Carbondale Hospitals, Shut-ins, Anna

Christmas caroling leads the list of activities scheduled by the Foundation groups this weekend.

Baptist students will meet at the Baptist Student Foundation on Saturday at 6:30 p.m. The students will carol at the homes of shut-ins and in the local hospitals.

The arrangements are being made by Gladys Davis and Ed Handkins.

Immediately after the caroling there will be a "Deck-the-Halls" party. Students will be invited to participate in decorating the Foundation in holiday fashion.

Faye Andrews is social chairman in charge of this part of the evening.

The Student Christian Foundation will travel to the Anna State Hospital to carol for patients there on Sunday.

All students who wish to participate should meet at the Foundation at 5:30 p.m. A light meal will be served before the group leaves.

During the supper hour the trophies will be presented to the presidents of the winning houses in the SCF Christmas Decoration Contest.

The Wesley Foundation will stage its annual Christmas party Friday at 8 p.m. Dress is to be semi-formal.

Ruth Ann Woodrome is chairman for the event.

Noble H. Kelly, psychology research professor, will speak on "Man's Moral Commitment" before the Carbondale Unitarian Fellowship, Sunday morning at 10:30.

The former chairman of the SIU psychology department has authored numerous articles in professional journals.

Soloist will be baritone, James McHaney, who will sing selections from Handel. The meeting is open to the public.

The SIU chapter of Gamma Delta, international association of Lutheran college students, will hold a short Christmas service at 7 p.m. Sunday in the Lutheran Student Center, 700 S. University Ave.

Frederick O'Neal will present Christmas readings for the Wesley Fellowship of the First Methodist Church Sunday.

The Fellowship will meet at the home of the pastor, the Rev. Donald Crocker, for a buffet supper at 5:15 p.m.

After the meal the group will sing Christmas carols. O'Neal will present Christmas readings following the singing.

Christmas communion will be observed at the Wesley Fellowship of the Grace Methodist Church Sunday.

A meal will be served at 5:30 p.m. after which the communion service will begin.

Bowyer Hall Tea

The women of Bowyer Hall First Floor held their annual Christmas Tea for faculty women from 2 to 4 p.m. last Saturday.

Floor president Ruth Anne Scott welcomed the guests to the traditional event. Entertainment was given by Shirley Rappuhn, a Cuban Santa Claus, Penny Fry, who sang "Some Children See Him," and Marilyn Mertz, who played the piano for group carol singing.

Committee chairman were Kathy Neumeyer, invitations; Mary Ellen Maffia, decorations; Shirley Rappuhn, entertainment; Jan Akers, food and serving; Donna Baron, dishes; Suzie Reazer, standards; and Betty Stumpf, clean up.

Free-Lancers On Program:

Writers Conference Here Tomorrow

Writers from throughout Southern Illinois will gather on the campus tomorrow for a one-day writers conference. Problems, goals and methods of successful free-lance writing will be discussed.

Two professional free-lancers, Mrs. Anne West Zimmerman and Mrs. Ethel Strainchamps, will headline the program.

Mrs. Strainchamps of Springfield, Mo., is currently working on a book and is a regular contributor to several newspapers and magazines. Mrs. Zimmerman of Marion has had articles in about 100 top-ranking magazines and also has written for television.

Three SIU faculty members who are part-time free-lancers will also be featured in the program. Charles D. Neal, director of teacher training, is a specialist in "how-to-do-it" articles.

James L. C. Ford, professor of journalism and director of the conference, and Howard R. Long, chairman of the Journalism Department, will appear on panels and direct discussions.

The conference will open with registration from 8 a.m. to 9 a.m. in the Faculty Club, south of the University Center. The SIU Department of Journalism, University Extension Division and Theta Sigma Phi, professional fraternity for women in journalism, are sponsoring the conference.

Pilot Takes Flight At Night—Finds His Trouble Is Double

An SIU student pilot is facing possible disciplinary action by the Saluki Flying Club for operating in violation of Air Institute regulations.

Thomas J. Stewart, 21, filled out forms for flying an SIU-owned Piper Tri-Pacer to Chicago and was scheduled to return to Carbondale later, officials said.

No night flying is allowed under Air Institute regulations, according to Gene Seibert, coordinator of the Air Institute Service, but Stewart apparently flew from Chicago to Champaign, landing at the University of Illinois Airport at 6:20 p.m. according to airport records.

Seibert said Saluki Flying Club rules state that in cases of violating regulations, whatever disciplinary action the executive committee of the club deems necessary will be taken.

While on the U. of I. campus, Stewart also was charged by University Police with disorderly conduct and operating a motor vehicle in violation of a restricted state drivers' license, authorities said.

Decorations To Be Judged Tonight

Judging of the Christmas decorations at five organized houses will begin tonight at 7 p.m. The contest is sponsored by the Student Christian Foundation.

Participating are Felts Hall, Seagall Hall, Bowyer Hall, Kellogg Hall, and Smith Hall. The theme is "Christmas in Other Lands."

A trophy will be presented to the first place winner and plaques to the second and third place winners by the Carbondale Chamber of Commerce. The presentations will take place at the Student Christian Foundation during the supper hour on Sunday at 5:30 p.m.

Seminar For Blind Counselors

Louis Viecei, coordinator of training courses for counselors of the blind, will be responsible for supplying leadership to a second follow-up seminar for counselors, Dec. 9-15.

Participants have already completed the five-week course on "Developing Employment Opportunities for Blind Persons in Competitive Occupations" held on campus.

Main purpose of the short course and the seminars is to instruct counselors in methods of helping blind persons to be successful in competitive activities.

The seminar, held in New Orleans, will rehash old problems and attempt to solve both old and new difficulties encountered by participants. Viecei said the seminar is something of a refresher course for the participants.

The first follow-up seminar held last summer in Hershey, Pa., was also coordinated by Viecei, who is blind himself.

Viecei went to Austin, Texas, Dec. 5-6 as a participant and consultant for the Counselor's Workshop. He received the invitation to participate in the three-day workshop from the Texas State Commission for the Blind.

College Entrance Exam Board Here

Thirty-eight members of the College Entrance Examination Board from Illinois and Missouri will meet on campus, Friday.

The members are teachers who had courses here at Southern Illinois University which formulated ideas and methods of teaching English. The purpose of the meeting is to discuss and determine the value and the use of the materials they formulated while in the classes.

The Anatomy Of A Professional Criminal

Cockney Crook Tells Feelings About Gambling With His Life

Tom Parker and Robert Allerton. The Courage of His Convictions, p. 182. New York: W. W. Norton and Co., 1962. $3.95

Since Oscar Wilde penned The Ballad of Reading Gaol in the late Nineteenth Century, innumerable "inside" stories of prisons and the criminal mind have been written by inmates of penal and correctional institutions. Most have been billed as "exposes", "firsts" or "required reading." Few have contributed new insights and understandings. None have excelled The Ballad for sheer beauty and emotional impact.

Now comes Tony Parker, a writer and interpolator of six months extended conversations with a confirmed British criminal. Robert Allerton, cocky Cockney, reared in London's East Side slums, proclaims his way of life: "I'll willingly gamble away a third of my life in prison, so long as I can live the way I want for the other two-thirds." At 33, he has served 12-17/2 years in institutions for an assorted array of offenses ranging from theft to house robbery, through assault on police to safe blowing.

What manner of man is this who says, "I've no intention of going straight, I'm just being more careful, that's all"? The book is concerned with that precise question. To get at the answers, Parker spent innumerable evenings in tape recorded conversations with Allerton after his latest release from prison. From the recordings he has skillfully extracted and edited a unique story of the development of that tragic enigma in our society, the professional criminal.

Allerton's father was his only relative who was "straight", that is, vocationally non-criminal. A pseudo intellectual, he was perennially unemployed. The grandfather was an accomplished pick-pocket. Six uncles, all brothers and friends were thieves. The immediate family of mother, father, and six children lived in a two room cold water flat anchored in a deteriorated, bug-infested, delinquency-ridden neighborhood. In that social cesspool, Allerton was born and bred, learned his first survival lessons in a social culture destined to produce a pattern of existence consistent with his slimy slum surroundings.

The book reveals the natural development of a criminal career. One must accept the logic of the subject's behavior and his responses to the stimuli of his surroundings. For him to have become an accepted leader, a scholar, a government clerk, a teacher, would have been the miracle of Robert Allerton. His career ran the gamut: hatred of cops, school dropout, truant, petty thief, hater of teachers, contemptuous of religion, con- niver, carouser. He was expelled from school, court martialled in the Royal Army, behavior problem in prison, defiler of women. His entire life is an ethical photographic negative. The blacks are white. The whites are black. All chromatics are reversed from the normal.

The self-recital of his development is handled unusually and successfully by Tony Parker. Steadily, the tragedy of a distorted life unfolds as the subject tells his story. In a later chapter Allerton responds to direct questions on his life, morals, attitudes and relations to other people he has known: family, friends, police, judges, prison officials, fellow criminals.

I find this fellow Allerton an all too familiar and tragic figure, repeated again and again in every major prison. The first confirmed professional criminal I ever knew was Sam, a mail robber serving 25 years for his latest caper. Sam's life began in the slums of Philadelphia. When I first knew him more than thirty years ago, he was an inmate clerk assigned to my office in the Atlanta Penitentiary. Sam knew more of the prison how-to-do-it than did I. He was of inestimable help to me, a young caseworker who had been injected into the prison over the wishes of the old conservative warden. Sam had a phenomenal intellect and memory. (He could recite back correctly the car numbers of every boxcar in a long train after it had sped by the prison on the nearby Southern R.R. tracks.) With only a formal fifth grade education, he knew literature, something of art, was a master at chess, an erudite cynic of government policies, stimulating and sparkling in conversation. One could only think again and again: If Sam only would have used his talents constructively! But to Sam and to Bob Allerton they are using their talents to the only end consistent with their unhappy and distorted life experiences. They are remarkable and depressing men to those of us who can see only tragedy and pathos in their distorted value systems.

Then why read The Courage of His Convictions? Why experience the sense of loss and human tragedy which can only follow the reading? Delinquency and its later life pattern or criminality remains one of the great social concerns of our society. The problem is of deepest concern to the United Nations Commission on Social Defense, to President Kennedy's Committee on Juvenile Delinquency and to the many foundations pouring millions of dollars into demonstration projects and research in the exploration for new answers. To any person who would understand the tragic distortion of human personality which produces delinquent behavior, this book, in a few short hours, will do the job.

Lastly, all things considered, including the nature of Bob Allerton's courage, the book might have been titled more appropriately "The Convictions of His Courage".

Boys Distract Coeds From Studying, But They Don't Mind

'I Can Concentrate On Two Good Things At Once,' One Says

What effect, if any, do male students have on the study habits of female college students?

There are two general opinions on this subject. Some education authorities claim most college girls are distracted from studying by thoughts of men who call on them. Other officials feel there is little or no study distraction by boys.

In an effort to determine which situation is prevalent among SIU coeds, Egyptian reporters recently conducted an informal, on-campus survey of coeds. Here are their views:

Barb Hartlein, a senior from Evansville: "Boys distract me no more than girls do. I do think that many girls are in school primarily to find husbands, and therefore do not necessarily mind being distracted."

Virgie Brown, a sophomore from Carbondale: "As far as distracting me from my studies, boys generally have little or no effect on me. I think that it depends on where you study, who you study with, and what you are studying. Since I live here in Carbondale, I don't have the study problems that some of the girls might have."

Ann Strawn, a junior from Centralia: "Sometimes boys do bother me when I'm trying to study. Since I live in a sorority house and our doors are open to visitors, the constant flood of people coming and going, especially boys, makes it awfully hard to concentrate at times."

Anita Miller, a freshman from Marion: "Boys don't bother me. I just don't let boys influence my studying. After all, I came to school to get an education, not to find a husband."

Tima Buckley, a junior from Flora: "Living in a small dorm like I do, where study facilities are somewhat less than desirable, boys can cause quite a disruption of my study habits. I believe that in a larger dorm, such as Woody Hall, these problems are nowhere near as large."

Tally Reum, a junior from Springfield: "Sure, I'm distracted by boys. But I don't particularly mind the distraction, especially when my favorite boyfriend is doing most of the distracting. Seriously though, it is quite a problem with him here at the same school. I don't know what the answer is. I realize I don't study as much as I should, but is college all study?"

Linda Pomillo, a sophomore from Oak Park: "No, boys don't bother me when I study. I figure I can concentrate on two good things at the same time. Also, I would rather be taught by male rather than female professors. They are much more open-minded and reasonable, both as far as lectures and grades are concerned."

Audrey Leckrone, a senior from Salem: "To a small degree, boys do distract me from my studies. It's only natural. I do think, though, that here at Southern, girls have equal opportunities for an education. Courses are not taught only for the boys."

Mary Ann Waskowski, a freshman from Chicago: "I feel that girls will just have to learn to adjust their studying according to the social pressures and demands that are placed upon them. Boys play a big part in the girl's choice to attend a coed rather than an all-girls school. We made our choice and we must work things out the best we can."

SIU Freshmen Lose To McKendree By 3

The SIU freshman team dropped its first basketball game of the season to McKendree by the score of 75-72.

McKendree took a sizable lead and was never headed by the Salukis until the last quarter.

The score at half time was 45 to 30 in McKendree's favor. Southern's full court press just about did the trick as they pulled within striking distance, but McKendree managed to hang on for the win.

Paul Minier of McKendree led both teams in scoring with 28 points. High scorer for the Salukis was Ron Mottin with 20 points.

Saturday night Coach Iubelt's freshmen open at home against Evansville College in the preliminary game to Southern's varsity tilt with Central Missouri State.

LOUISE GORDON

Tin Expert To Speak Here

William Fox, executive secretary of the International Tin Council will present a lecture Dec. 11, 8 p.m. in Room 216 of the Agriculture Building.

Fox is on his way home to London from an international tin conference via the U.S. in order to visit his son, David Fox, a visiting lecturer in the Geography Department.

Fox has been concerned with international control of tin for the past 25 years, and will present his lecture on "Tin: An Example of International Controls."

Fox worked on a joint U.S.-U.K. control organization during the war, and has continued in international control areas.

Huck Finn Actress:

Miss Gordon Has No Trouble 'Pretending Like A Man'

Louise Gordon, now playing in "Huckleberry Finn" at the Southern Playhouse, has a difficult task--she plays the role of Jim, the slave boy.

"This is a great deal of fun, sometimes the children don't know whether I'm a girl or not. So far I've been able to get away with it as far as little children are concerned," she said.

When asked about the problems of the role, she replied, "I don't have any trouble trying to talk like a man. My voice is naturally heavy for a girl."

"Walking like a man is not difficult either, especially with the heavy boots I wear!" she added.

My costume is very large and sloppy, making me look like a much larger person."

Because children's attention can't be held for very long, Miss Gordon said her acting and movements have to be greatly exaggerated.

"It's not so demanding that I do a great deal of acting. The children's show is more fun, livelier, with more clowning."

Debate Team Goes

To Wake Forest

The SIU debating team will move into the Wake Forest Invitational tournament this weekend, after tying with Alabama for the championship in the University of Pittsburgh Invitational last Saturday.

Phil Wander of Bloomington and Richard Fulkerson of Carbondale, two members of the team now have won 15 decisions against four losses in three tournaments this season. They are rated as chief contenders for the Wake Forest trophy.

Pall Mall Presents~ GIRL WATCHER'S GUIDE

CAMPUS TYPE IV

The natural habitat of the Cupcake is the Home Economics kitchen. She believes, as her mother did, that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. While this viewpoint might be considered unsophisticated by many of today's more enlightened male students, none of them has ever been known to turn down a tin of her Fudge-Frosted Nut-Filled Brownies. She really has a way with a dish and, as you can see, she's quite a dish herself.

Just as the Cupcake has found the perfect recipe for Frosted Brownies, the makers of Pall Mall have found the perfect recipe for a delicious smoke. Taste Pall Mall's natural mildness and see what we mean.

Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!

So smooth, so satisfying, so downright smokeable!

SIU Cagers To Open Home Stand Saturday

SIU opens its home basketball season Saturday night against Central Missouri State. The Salukis journey to Norman (Okla.) Monday night for a game with Oklahoma.

The Salukis are fresh from an impressive 73-66 victory over St. Bonaventure. St. Bonaventure was the first of six major-college basketball teams Southern will play this season.

Central Missouri lost its first game of the season to Tulsa. Last year SIU had little trouble with the Missourians but expects some trouble tomorrow night.

Bud Vallino and Mike McFarland are the top boys for Central Missouri. Vallino scored 19 points in the loss to Tulsa.

Jack Hartman, SIU's basketball coach, is expected to start the same lineup which upset the heavily-favored Bonnies. Co-captains Ed Spila and Dave Henson, forwards, Frank Lentfer at center, Paul Henry and Eldon Bigham at guards.

Front-line reserves expected to see action are Lou Williams, Harold Hood, Rod Linder, Bennie Felton, Joe Ramsey and Eddie Blythe.

Oklahoma will be favored over the Salukis Monday night. Hartman, however, will send his boys onto the floor in hopes for another victory over major-college opposition.

Dave Henson, SIU's number two scorer last season, is leading the team in scoring with 33 points after two games. Paul Henry is second in scoring with 26 points.

Henry came to SIU from Coffeyville Junior College where he was a standout on the national championship team which won all of its 32 games last year.

Williams is another Coffeyville boy who followed Hartman to SIU. He was a standout rebounder at Coffeyville and in the first two games this season has displayed top-notch rebounding skill.

Following is the SIU home basketball schedule:

Dec. 20--North Dakota State
Jan. 12--Kentucky Wesleyan (At Carbondale Comm.)
Jan. 16--Southeast Missouri (At Carbondale Comm.)
Jan. 26--Chicago Teachers College
Feb. 9--Austin-Peay
Feb. 19--Western Kentucky (At Carbondale Comm.)
Feb. 25--Tennessee State (At Carbondale Comm.)
Feb. 27--Ball State

Pool Records Precarious As SIU Hosts Open Meet

Several pool records may be in jeopardy Saturday when SIU's swimmers host the fourth annual SIU Open swimming meet in the University School pool.

The meet is expected to attract top-flight competition with teams from Kansas, Kansas State, Indiana, Missouri Athletic Club and Florissant Swim Club participating.

Preliminaries are scheduled to start at 1 p.m. Saturday with the finals set for 8 p.m.

Indiana will be represented by its freshmen and a few swimmers who are ineligible for varsity competition. The Hoosiers highly-touted varsity team has a dual meet Saturday and will not be able to compete.

The Salukis, who outclassed Oklahoma 59-36 in their season's opener, will have their full squad entered as well as several members of the SIU freshman group.

Heading SIU's representatives will be team captain

Jack Schiltz, who won both breaststroke events in last year's meet; sprint specialist Ray Padovan; and sophomore swimmers Ted Petras and Darrell Green.

Ralph Casey, SIU swimming coach, expects the SIU swimmers to be in top form for the meet. "The boys haven't looked too good in practice since the Oklahoma meet but they will be ready Saturday," Casey said.

SIU students will be admitted to the preliminaries and finals by presenting their activity cards at the door. Saturday's meet will be the first of several top swimming meets which Southern will have at home.

Grapplers After Second Win Over Findlay College Saturday

SIU's wrestlers will be shooting for a second straight victory over Findlay College Saturday afternoon in the Men's Gymnasium at 2 o'clock.

SIU students will be admitted to the meet by presenting their activity cards at the door.

Last year SIU handed Findlay a 32-3 defeat and is not expected to have much trouble winning Saturday.

Jim Wilkinson's SIU wrestlers flashed mid-season preview of form last week in the Illinois Invitational meet at Champaign by winning five firsts, one second and one third place ribbons.

Frank Coniglio, Terry Finn, Don Millard, Irv Johnston and Larry Kristoff won blue ribbons in the meet while Izzy Ramos took second and Bill Hartzell third.

Coniglio, Finn and Millard are shooting for repeat victories over Findlay Saturday. Last year they easily won their matches and appear assured of victories Saturday.

Findlay claimed only one win last year but hopes to do better Saturday afternoon.

Odds Are For Saturday's Game

SIU students who have activity cards ending in odd numbers may pick up tickets for Saturday night's basketball game this afternoon from 1-4 p.m. at the ticket office in the Men's Gymnasium.

Any tickets left over may be obtained by any student after four o'clock this afternoon. Also tickets may be obtained Saturday morning from eight o'clock to 12.

SECOND HIGHEST SCORER — Paul Henry, second highest scorer on SIU's basketball team, will guard the Saluki basket at the first home game Saturday in the Men's Gymnasium.

Football Coaches Already At Work On Next Year's Varsity Squad

Even though the football season has just ended, Carmen Piccone and his coaching staff have already begun preparations for next year.

Piccone has organized the recruiting system into five areas with the different coaches responsible for a certain area.

Piccone will recruit the deep south, southwest, south-east and east coasts.

Harry Shay, backfield coach, is responsible for the Chicago area. Bob Franz, defensive line coach, will recruit in southwestern Illinois and St. Louis.

Don Cross, offensive line coach, has been assigned southern Illinois and parts of Central Illinois.

Piccone's coaching staff is looking for quarterbacks, halfbacks and fullbacks with speed as well as size.

"This year we are going after the top-notch halfback who can get outside the ends quickly," Piccone said, "that was part of our trouble this year. We had no backs quick enough to get outside and the opponents jammed the inside against us."

End positions are another place where Piccone feels help is needed.

"We need ends with size, speed and ability to catch the ball," Piccone said. "Also the ends we recruit better be able to block because it is a fundamental part of our offense."

The recruiting system revolves around the all-state teams picked by the Chicago newspapers and St. Louis papers. This gives the coaching staff a starting point.

From there the coaches screen the all-state players in order to find the boys they feel could help SIU.

In past years, SIU's recruiting success has been largely dependent on the personalities of the coaches. But now the need has arisen for a different type of scholarship.

Bus Routes And Parking Lots Under Council Consideration

Student President Bill Fenwick this week urged students and staff members to submit proposals concerning internal transportation to the Motor Vehicle and Traffic Safety Committee.

The Student Council recently decided to study problems of internal transportation and draw up recommendations, Fenwick said. He added that student and staff participation could be of valuable assistance.

The Council's program might include some of the following features, Fenwick said.

1. Leased parking on at least one central campus lot with a rate high enough to establish a history of revenue for the proposed university parking garage.

2. A system of parking lots on the campus periphery.

3. Service of parking lots by a free shuttle bus operation from eight to five. Cost of the bus service would be met by the University from the savings made by better use of central campus and by use of cheaper land for parking lots. Southern Hills would be included on the bus route.

Christian Science Talk At Library Sunday

Herbert E. Rieke will lecture on "Successful Living Found Through Christian Science" at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Morris Library Auditorium.

Rieke, a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship, is a graduate of Northwestern University. He served during World War II as an Army Air Corps chaplain in India, North Africa and Italy.

His lecture is one in a series prepared especially for college campus presentation.

Harmon Is Drafted By Chicago Bears

Dennis Harmon, SIU's Most Valuable Back on this year's football team, was drafted by the National Football League Chicago Bears in the eighth round Monday.

He was the only Saluki drafted by a NFL professional team. Sam Silas, however, was drafted Saturday by the Boston Patriots of the American League.

Silas and Jim Battle received honorable mentions awards on the Associated Press Little All-American third team Tuesday.

Nine Named To Flag Football All-Star Team

A nine-man all-star team has been selected by opposing teams in the SIU intramural flag football leagues.

Fraternity league champions Tau Kappa Epsilon placed three men on the squad-- Marty Ciesiak, Don Kerr and Les Lange. Kerr was also selected as the outstanding manager of the league.

The Alkies, winner of the flag football championship, placed two men on the team. Gil Saturno and Carl Montross were the Alkies named to the squad.

Sigma Tau Gamma, Kappa Alpha Psi, Delta Chi and University Drugs each placed one man on the squad.

Jim Crawford was selected from Kappa Alpha Psi, Gary Kilgos from Delta Chi, Bob Schuster of U.D.'s and Jim Pasko from Sigma Tau Gamma.

Library Receives Moliere Volume

A first edition of Moliere's "L'Amour Medicin Comedie," published in 1666, has been presented to the Morris Library by John G. Seidel, president of the Bresler Galleries, Milwaukee, according to Ralph E. McCoy, Director of Libraries.

The gift was presented through Professor and Mrs. George Kimball Plochmann of SIU's Philosophy Department. The Plochmanns had presented Seidel a gift membership in the SIU Friends of the Library organization last year.

"L'Amour Medicin" is a light comedy in prose in which Moliere caricatures the doctors of the king's court.

ble back award and Battle the lineman honor.

No captain was elected. The team decided to elect next year's captain after spring football practice.

Battle played in 39 straight games during his four-year football career at Southern. He set a new pass receiving record for a career this season with 1,010 yards.

Harmon was outstanding on defense for the Salukis from his right side corner line-backer position. He was used only sparingly on offense, carrying the ball 32 times for 96 yards.

Harmon is one of the more popular players on SIU's football team. He is also considered a "can't miss" professional football prospect.

Battle started at right end for Carmen Piccone for four years and Piccone is expecting some difficulty in trying to find a suitable replacement for him.

In high school Harmon was also the most valuable athlete in basketball, track and baseball. Oddly enough, however, he lettered in football but wasn't the Most Valuable athlete.

He earned 13 letters at Wat-

Battle came to SIU from the service where he was a mem-

Retirement Banquet In Center Honors Dean Of Liberal Arts

Talbert W. Abbott, for 15 years, dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences at SIU, was honored at a retirement party in the University Center Ballroom Monday evening. About 150 of his friends and associates attended.

James Neckers of the Chemistry department, was master of ceremonies, Robert Faner of the English department gave the principal speech.

Faner reviewed the contributions of Dean Abbott to the University since he came to SIU in 1928. After retirement in 1960, Abbott was called back to act as Dean of Academic Affairs. He was retired again at the beginning of the current academic year.

Other speakers were President Delyte W. Morris and Charles D. Tenney, vice president for instruction.

Two gifts were presented to Dean Abbott by the Department. One was a portrait still to be painted which will be hung in Abbott Hall, one of the new residence units of Thompson Point.

Another gift was a tapestry, made by Claribel McDaniel of the Art Department.

Mrs. Abbott, their daughter, Miss Ellen Abbott, Mrs. Morris, Mrs. Tenney, Mrs. Neckers and other wives and husbands of academic people were also guests.

Fined $50 Each:

Five Freshmen In Grave Situation

The five were arrested after it was reported to Carbondale police that some people were in Snider Cemetery, near the East Park Street extension, drinking and throwing beer cans in the cemetery.

Five freshmen students have been placed on disciplinary probation through the winter quarter and assigned special work in a Carbondale cemetery following their arrest near the cemetery last Thursday night.

Authorities said the youths drove off when police arrived and officers pursued them to make the arrest.

Fines $50 each after pleading guilty before Police

Magistrate Robert Schwartz to a charge of illegal purchase of alcoholic beverages were Michael Watkins of Carbondale, David Mabry of Vandalia, Steve Phillips of Oak Lawn, Dan Diamond of Wood River and Don Saracco of Benld. All are 18 years of age.

Watkins was also fined $30 on a reckless driving charge. Authorities in the Office of Student Affairs said all five students have been assigned to 25 hours of work at Snider Cemetery on weekends under the supervision of the cemetery caretaker.

Judging Teams Find Contests Tough Going

Southern Illinois University judging teams found the competition quite rough at the national intercollegiate livestock judging contests held in Chicago last week.

Fourteen SIU students participated in the judging competition.

Three judging teams competed. Their coaches are H.W. Miller, livestock judging; Bill Goodman, poultry judging; and David Wiekert, dairy judging.

The livestock judging team finished number 23 out of 40 teams while the dairy judging team finished 17 in its category. Although the poultry judging team did better than last year as far as overall points go, they finished eighth out of ten teams in the competition.

The SIU competitors were Philip Utey, Allen Wilson, James Miller, Herbert Oetjen, Scott Chapman, Edward Bass and James Down in livestock judging. Marshall Bardemeier, Bob Rowland, and Paul Page made up the poultry judging team and Thomas Walquist, Dean Cullins, Steve Courtelyou and Ronald Kiehna competed in dairy judging.

'Lonely Crowd' Man Cancels SIU Date

David Riesman, author of "The Lonely Crowd," this week notified Student President Bill Fenwick that he would be unable to come to SIU for a talk this year but might be able to next year.

Fenwick had asked Riesman to come here to speak during Human Values Week. Riesman suggested that Christopher Jencks, associate editor of The New Republic, might be able to present a talk here during Human Values Week.

Riesman and Jencks worked together on a study of higher education.

Reception Will Honor G. W. Stone

Vernon Sternberg, director of the University Press, announced today that a press reception will be held honoring George W. Stone for the release of the fourth volume of his "London Stage" series published by the press.

The reception for Stone, Professor of English at New York University and Executive Secretary of the Modern Language Association of America, will be held on December 27 in Washington D.C. at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Reduced Rate Buses Planned For Students

The Student Government office has announced plans to run Christmas vacation buses to and from Chicago and St. Louis at reduced rates.

If the buses are filled, the round trip to Chicago will be $7.75. To St. Louis and back it will be $2.40.

John Rabe, chairman of the travel committee, said the buses will leave the Center for Chicago at 1 p.m. on Dec. 14, 15, and 18. They will leave for St. Louis at 3 p.m. the same days.

Returning to the campus, the buses from Chicago will leave the Trailways bus station Chicago, at 9 a.m. and at 2 p.m. January 2. Details of the time and place for the return trip from St. Louis are still to be announced.

Rabe said the buses to Chicago will proceed up U.S. route 66 making scheduled stops at Springfield, Bloomington, Joliet, Elmhurst (York High School), Oak Park (high school) and Trailways Bus depot, 20 E. Randolph, Chicago.

Pickups will be made at the same locations.

Rabe said the buses are a commercial type and will be comfortable. About 38 can ride in one bus on the Chicago run and 50 on the St. Louis trip.

Fenwick And Howe In Debate Over Judicial Board Bill

Student President Bill Fenwick vetoed a bill last Thursday asking him to approach the Judicial Board for written recommendations for changes in the board's structure.

Fenwick said the executive branch should not perform duties of the legislative body. He said the rules and coordination committee, headed by Gerry Howe, junior class president, should contact the Judicial Board for proposed changes.

Howe maintained that Fenwick could handle the job more efficiently. "You've wasted two weeks by vetoing the bill," Howe said. Fenwick said Howe had wasted four weeks by attempting to mandate the student president to do the job.

Fenwick and Howe engaged in a verbal interchange until Council Chairman Ted Hutton called Howe out of order. Carolyn Kruse, Thompson Point Senator, pleaded that the argument be ceased.

Elizabeth Mullins, coordinator of Student Activities, addressed the Council and supported Fenwick's position.

Cary Davis To Discuss Pre-Columbian Mexico

J. Cary Davis, professor in the Foreign Language Department, will speak Dec. 11 at 7:30 to the monthly seminar meeting of the Latin American Institute.

The subject, pre-Columbian Mexico, will be illustrated. Davis has made numerous excursions to Mexico. The public is invited to attend the meeting to be held in the Seminar Room of the Agriculture Building.

SIU To Send Representative To Washington Conference

Southern Illinois University is one of five universities invited to send representatives to Washington, D.C., to discuss international educational affairs.

Dr. Robert Jacobs, Coordinator of International Programs, will leave campus today as a member of a group selected to attend.

Dr. John Gardner, Chairman of the United States Advisory Commission on International Education and Cultural Affairs, and Leona Baumgartner, Assistant Secretary of State, are co-sponsoring this meeting.

The group hopes to discuss the educational dimensions of assistance programs in underdeveloped countries.

Other universities and institutions sending representatives are: Michigan State University, University of California, Colorado University, University of Kansas, Carnegie Corporation of New York, and the Institute of International Education.

the fourth dimension: TIME

...still a mysterious concept to science. Time is only an idea, an abstraction...an area of shadow, speculation—and surprise.

SEPT. 5, 1752, NEVER HAPPENED!...Nor did any date from Sept. 3 to 13, at least in England and the American Colonies. Why? The King decreed that these days would be skipped to correct a discrepancy between the Old English calendar and the newly adopted Gregorian calendar. This left puzzled Englishmen and colonists with one 19-day month and a 355-day year.

THE HAMSTER'S BUILT-IN "CON-THUDUS CLOCK"...enables him to maintain his daily activities of eating and sleeping without the usual stimuli of light and darkness. He lives on exactly the same schedule even in total darkness.

A Present From Santa:

Stocking Full Of Changes Due

Morale is high these days among the advisement and sectioning people, but it's hard to understand why.

When classes resume after the Christmas break, they'll find that Santa failed to deliver something hundreds of students wanted—last-minute program changes.

Herbert W. Wohlwend, assistant registrar, predicted some 6,000 changes before students settle into their winter routines.

The big traffic jam, he said, will come when the Academic Advisement Center opens its doors for program changes on the third day of winter quarter.

However, most program rearranging will be completed before this term ends, Wohlwend pointed out. Some students make more than one change.

While it may sound like students are just plain fickle, Marion B. Treece, sectioning supervisor, said most change their programs because they unexpectedly fail a prerequisite.

"You have to expect this at any school where pre-registration is used," he said.

Many students also rearrange their program to fit a work schedule, Treece said. Least changes are made by students who dislike a particular instructor.

An unofficial count showed that 9,315 students had registered for winter term through Monday--566 more than last year at the same time. Night classes resume Wednesday, January 2.

Although the lines may seem interminable to students standing in them, simple program changes really don't take forever. They take about 30 minutes.

At least, that's how much actual processing time personnel in the various offices involved will spend on the average change, according to Wohlwend.

The program change trail begins with the student's academic adviser, and proceeds through the Sectioning Center, Registrar's Office and Statistical Service.

Students complete their part at the Registrar's Office, but more work goes on behind the scenes. Cards must be sent to both instructors. Records must be revised.

Other reasons for changes were cited by forces closer to the front, the academic advisers themselves.

"Some students are afraid of a course and develop a mental block about it," said Miss Hilda A. Stein, adviser for Liberal Arts and Sciences.

She noted a strong pressure behind students today to succeed in college, which once was a "more carefree place."

Peter J. Notaras, also an adviser for LAS, said some students come to him for advice in personal matters as well as for program preparation.

JOHN ALLEN

Curator Donates History Collection

John Allen, former curator of the SIU Museum, presented a wealth of historical material on Illinois to Morris Library this week.

Allen traded numerous historical items to the library in return for working space where he can carry on his research.

The collection includes some of Allen's own histories on counties of Illinois, civil war documents, "The Outlaws of Cave-in-Rock" and various maps and illustrations. The gift totals some 500 volumes, plus photos, slides, maps, and letters.

Allen, a one time newspaper writer, now spends much of his time doing historical research and writing articles on southern Illinois history and folklore for area newspapers.

HAPPY TALK

As we all know, conversation is terribly important on a date. When lulls in the conversation run longer than an hour or two, one's partner is inclined to grow logy—even sullen. But occasionally one finds it difficult to keep the talk going, especially when one is having a first date with one. What, then, does one do? If one is wise, one follows the brilliant example of Harlow Thurlow.

Harlow Thurlow prepares. That is his simple secret. When Harlow is going to take out a new girl, he makes sure in advance that the conversation will not languish. Before the date, he goes to the library and reads all 24 volumes of the encyclopedia and transcribes their contents on his cuffs. Thus he makes sure that no matter what his date's interests are, he will have ample material to keep the conversation alive.

Take, for example, Harlow's first date with Priscilla de Gasser, a fine, strapping, blue-eyed broth of a girl, lavishly constructed and rosy as the dawn.

Harlow was, as always, prepared when he called for Priscilla, and, as always, he did not start to converse immediately. First he took her to dinner because, as everyone knows, it is useless to try to make conversation with an unfed coed. Her attention span is negligible. Also, her stomach rumbles so loud it is difficult to make yourself heard.

"Wash your cuffs and be my love!"

So he took her to a fine steak house where he stoked her with goblets of Black Angus and mounds of French fries and thickets of escarole and battalions of petit fours. Then, at last, dinner was over and the waiter brought two finger bowls.

"I hope you enjoyed your dinner, my dear," said Harlow, dipping into his finger bowl.

"Oh, it was grandy-dandy!" said Priscilla. "Now let's go someplace for ribs."

"Later, perhaps," said Harlow. "But right now, I thought we might have a conversation."

"Oh, goody, goody, two-shoes!" cried Priscilla. "I been looking everywhere for a boy who can carry on an intelligent conversation."

"Your search is ended, madam," said Harlow, and pulled back his sleeves and looked at his cuffs to pick a likely topic to start the conversation.

Oh, woe! Oh, lackaday! Those cuffs on which Harlow had painstakingly transcribed so many facts—those cuffs on which he had noted such diverse and fascinating information—those cuffs, I say, were nothing now but a big, blue blur! For Harlow—poor Harlow!—splashing around in the finger bowl, had gotten his cuffs wet and the ink had run and not one word was legible! And Harlow—poor Harlow!—looked upon his cuffs and broke out in a night sweat and fell dumb.

"I must say," said Priscilla after several silent hours, "that you are a very dull fellow. I'm leaving."

With that she flounced away and poor Harlow was too crushed to protest. Sadly he sat and sadly lit a cigarette.

All of a sudden Priscilla came rushing back. "Was that," she asked, "a Marlboro you just lit?"

"Yes," said Harlow.

"Then you are not a dull fellow," she cried, and sprang into his lap. "You are bright! Anybody is bright to smoke such a perfect joy of a cigarette as Marlboro which is just chock full of yummy flavor, which has a Selectrate filter which comes in a soft pack that is really soft, and a Flip-Top Box that really flips, and which can be bought wherever cigarettes are sold in all fifty states and Duluth . . . Harlow, tiger, wash your cuffs and be my love!"

"Okay," said Harlow, and did, and was.

SISTERS OF SERVICE — Sister Mary Clea gets set to serve the ball and Sister Donna Marie looks on as the duo start a game of tennis on the SIU courts. The two are enrolled in a tennis course at Southern. They are Sisters Adores of the Most Precious Blood and now live in Cobden. They teach catechism in nine parishes in this area.

Decorations Give Campus Yule Spirit

Southern is gaily decorated for Christmas with glowing trees and long-needle greens, all cut from Southern Illinois forests.

Six perfectly shaped nine feet tall scotch pines are up and decorated in the University Center. The tree in the Magnolia Lounge is lighted with red and white bulbs and dressed entirely with gold balls.

The pillars of the Roman Room are wrapped with a spiral of red ribbon. Huge candy canes and greens are held to the white pillars with big red bows.

The candy canes, of greens and scarlet ribbon, are used throughout the building and as an outside Christmas welcome to visitors entering the Center at the east door, the fountain court is sparkling with colored lights.

Brightly painted masonite figures, cut out by Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity, are going up around campus.

Louis Sucich is chairman of the Christmas decorations committee. Co-chairman is Kathryn Lindbloom. Sucich said it took combined help of students and Center employees to move the decorations into place quickly.

Among those working on the project were Jo Ann Jaffe, Larry Lieber, Alpha Gamma Delta pledges, Ken Hansen, Ollie Rhein, Susan Weber, Barb Rankin, Shirley Williams, Louise Nelson, Phi Sigma Kappa pledges, and Joel Travelstead.

Public Concert Set:

Music Festival To Draw 350

The District 6 Illinois Music Educators Festival will be held on campus Saturday.

District 6 includes the lower 25 counties of Illinois and will be represented by 50 high school band directors and approximately 300 students.

The students will form a 140 piece band, a 170 person choir, and a 50 piece orchestra. Morning auditions will qualify the best of these students for the all-state festival in Peoria in January.

All three groups will present a concert in Shryock Auditorium at 7 p.m., Saturday. Donald G. Canedy, SIU Music Department and co-ordinator of the festival, said that the concert was open to the public.

In all 50 states, the big switch is to Marlboro

Remember 1955, when Marlboro came to town? Suddenly, the U.S. had a flavor cigarette with a filter on the end. Sales grew in every town, in every state. Today the whole place is Marlboro country—land of the filter cigarette with the un-filtered taste. Behind this popularity is the famous Richmond recipe of ripe tobaccos (the finest grown), and the pure white Selectate Filter. Pack or box, you get a lot to like.
